ENGINEER HOLLOWAY

Meets Death in Head End Collision on Montgomery Division

WAS WELL KNOWN AT THIS PLACE

A Special from Fort Deposit, Ala., dated May 14 says: Through Freight No. 18 on the Louisville and Nashville Road between Mobile and Montgomery collided head on with a work train four miles north of here, and one mile south of Calhoun at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Ten cars and the two engines went down the embankment. Jack C. Holloway of Montgomery, engineer of No. 18, was killed, while a negro stoker named Williams was seriously injured. It is also rumored that an unknown hobo was killed in the collision. The cause of the collision is not stated.

The cars, when derailed, took fire from the engines, and within a few minutes a string of ten cars was a seething mass of flames. Some of the cars which went off the track were filled with rosin and the fire feeding on this caused a blaze that defied all efforts to extinguish.

Engineer Holloway is well known in Earlinton having resided here for a number of years in the employment of the L. & N. His home was in Henderson and the remains were shipped to Henderson Thursday for burial. Rev. Brandon pastor of the Methodist church of this place was notified to accompany the remains to Henderson and preach the funeral. The many friends of the family offer sympathy in this hour of trouble.

J. W. Jordan, a well known dentist of Hopkinsville, Ky., recently had an operation for his kidney trouble, but he says: "The first real relief I got was after taking Foley Kidney Pills. They eased the terrible pain in my back and accomplished more good than anything I had tried. I gladly recommend them." Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co. Incorporated Drug Department.

MINERS' STRIKE COSTS ABOUT $12,000,000 IN WAGES ALONE

Total Loss in All Quarters Cannot Well Be Estimated

Philadelphia—To and including Saturday the anthracite mines have been idle for 36 working days. As there are 178,000 anthracite employees of whom all but a negligible few are idle, the suspension thus far represents the direct loss of more than 6,000,000 days labor. The loss in wages has probably been in excess of $12,000,000. Based on last year's production, the loss in coal mined, between April 1 and May 11, has been about 8,000,000 tons. Allowing the 1910 value at the mine of $1.90 per ton (the latest obtainable average figure), this coal represents a money loss of more than $14,000,000. Thus the combined loss in wages and coal production thus far has exceeded $26,000,000.

The real total losses, in all quarters, resulting from the anthracite suspension, of course, have been much larger than this sum. In fact, they would probably foot up to this amount multiplied a good many times. The losses in anthracite freights alone would equal the value of the coal at the mine. There has been a heavy loss in the wages of railroad men who have been laid off on account of the cessation of the anthracite traffic. The retail coal trade is losing a large volume of business, and the losses extend in many other directions before their effects disappear.

In this connection it is of interest to note that United States Consul General Griffiths, at London, has compiled a number of estimates of the losses in the British coal strike. The estimates run from $72,997,500 to $243,825,000. Mr. Griffiths is inclined to think that the London Daily Mirror's estimate of $122,635,800 is probably not excessive when the almost unlimited ramifications of the effects of the strike are taken into consideration. The Mirror's estimate takes no consideration of the increased cost of living during the strike. Making allowance for this, Mr. Griffiths believes the London Daily Telegraph's estimate of $243,826,000 may not be to large. The loss of working days to the coal miners was about $25,000,000.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey, of Newberg Junction, N. Fire Alarm System General Information

The city of Earlinton has been divided into four Fire Districts, known as numbers one, two, three and four. These districts are formed by the two natural physical dividing lines,—viz. Main Street and the L. & N. R. R.

Fire District No. 1 comprises all that territory North of Main St., and West of the R. R., (e. g. the City Hall, Round House, F. B. Arnold's residence, Pump House, etc. etc., are in District No. 1.

Fire District 2, comprises all that territory North of Main St., and East of the R. R., (e. g. the St. Bernard Store, Barnes, Cowell & Co., P. H. Whalen's residence, Masonic Temple. "Logtown" etc. etc., are in District No. 2.

Fire District 3, comprises all that territory South of Main St., and West of the R. R., (e. g. the Post Office, Goodloe's restaurant, Chas. Cowell's residence, Mrs. Harriet Browning's residence, Esq. Jas. Priest's residence, etc. etc., are in District No. 3.

Fire District 4, comprises all that territory South of Main St., and East of the R. R., (e. g. the Peoples Bank, Victory Building, C. M. Henry's residence, Catholic Church, New Methodist Church, etc. etc., are in District No. 4.

Each telephone subscriber in these Districts has been furnished with a card showing the number of Fire District in which each phone is situated,—these cards directing that, in case of fire, Central Telephone Exchange be informed of District Number and name of house "on fire." The Central operator will in turn notify L. & N. Round House, which will give the alarm.

The Round House whistle will in the future give the official alarm, and this alarm consist of a series of short blasts followed by one, two, three or four long ones, according to the district in which fire is located,—these long blasts indicating the district. This alarm will be repeated as seems necessary. The L. & N. locomotives will not give the alarm unless an engineer or trainman should first discover a fire (i. e. should see it before the regular alarm had been given)—or, in the event the regular Round House alarm should fail to arouse the fire Department at night,

Emmett Logan Dies at Baltimore

Baltimore, Md., May 15.—Col. Emmet C. Logan, of Warren county Ky., died here in the Johns Hopkins hospital at 8 o'clock tonight of apoplexy. He came here on May 5 from Washington, where he had been since January, having come East for treatment of affection of the ear. He was operated on here several days ago and was said to be doing nicely. He was heard to fall in his room tonight and was found apparently dead on the floor. All efforts to revive him failed.

He was born in Shelby county on October 9, 1848. For many years he was editor of the Louisville Times. He gave up newspaper work on account of his health and retired to his farm near Bowling Green.

Personal Inspection

Frankfort, Ky., May 15.—Inspection in person of every mile of railroad in Kentucky will be made by the railroad commission before the tangible property of the railroads is assessed.

This was decided by the members of the commission, and the inspection will begin May 15, when the commission will go to Prestonsburg to investigate a complaint about depot facilities there. The members of the commission will view the fitting landscape from the back end of a train, paying special attention to track and depot facilities, so that it will be able to arrive at a correct conclusion regarding the actual value of the property.

LIFE is, in fact, a battle.
On this point optimists and pessimists agree. Evil is insolent and strong; beauty enchanting and rare; goodness very apt to be weak; folly very apt to be defiant; wickedness to carry the day; imbeciles to be in great places, people of sense in small, and mankind generally unhappy. But the world as it stands is no illusion, no phantasm, no evil dream of a night: we wake up to it again and again forever.—Henry James.

MEN MUST EAT IF THERE ARE FEW FARMERS

Agricultural America is now buying from manufacturing Europe large quantities of potatoes. We are also just now taking from the Argentine Republic large quantities of corn to supply the needs of Corn-growing America. A few years ago such things would not have been believed. During the past ten years our imports of agricultural products have almost doubled and our exports of farm products have fallen from 70 per cent of our total exports to 55 per cent. Our manufactures have greatly increased while our agricultural interests have dragged. People have gone from the farms to the cities and towns in great numbers. The statistics show that in 1800 our rural population was 88.88 per cent of our total population. This means that 84 farming people had to produce food enough for only 100 persons. Now 63 farming people must produce enough for 100 consumers. There can be no difference of opinion as to the bearing this has upon the permanency of the higher cost of living. It is apparent and again emphasizes the old law of supply and demand.

Wise Philosophy.

When anyone has offended me, I try to raise my soul so high that the fence cannot reach it.—Descartes.

The talent who are to give the concert at Madisonville have been solicited by Lyceum people, and Mr. A. E. Gringle, editor of the LYCEUM WORLD, Indianapolis, Ind., expects to come from there to hear those people. Why should the outside people be more interested in our own talent than we. Let us give them a great audience.

The coconut palm has one peculiarity. It never stands upright. There is a Malay maxim to the effect that "He who has seen a straight coconut palm will surely live forever."

"Rag-Time" a Mixture.

The origin of "rag-time" is traced directly to the American negroes, yet the rhythmic peculiarities of "rag-time" are also characteristic of Indian music.

Just a Minute

By Clark McAdams

BILLANELLE

Bill Bryan, on a Summer's day, Was in the meadow raking hay. He thought, as he had thought before, About the field at Baltimore.

He thought of Theodore and Bill, And some old-timers running still.

He thought of life, too swiftly fled, And how long all of us are dead.

He thought of destiny, of chance, Of history, and circumstance.

He thought of three times out and four,

And the White House gaping at the door.

He thought how any Democrat

Can beat the straw man or the hat.

He pitched the hay sometimes a mile. A smiled a very subtle smile.

He well and competently wrought. But no man knows just what he thought.

He showed extraordinary skill,

As one while thinking sometimes will.

With sometimes darkly-clouding brow.

He got at the matter, anyhow.

He made—but there! We always shield.

The secrets of a private field.

Bill wasn't pitching hay that day, Out on the highway, anyway.

Immediat Effect of Great Kidney Remedy is

Soon Realized

In March 1905, I was troubled with severe pains in my back and left side but didn't think it was anything serious until last September. I got so bad that I was obliged to seek medical aid. It seemed as if I was suffering almost a living death with hard straining and burning pains after each call, and I would have from five to six calls during the night. I had almost given up to die, when I happened to think of trying Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. My husband bought me a bottle and I began to improve from the first dose. When I had taken two bottles I was completely cured.

Yours very truly,

MRS. B. B. HALL

R. F. D. No. 3 Roseboro, N. C. State of North Carolina Sampson County ss.

Mrs. B. B. Hall, after being duly sworn, deposes and says that the above testimonial is true to her best knowledge and belief, so help me God.

Why Merchants Should Advertise

One of the most effective ways for local merchants to oppose encroachments of mail order houses is to advertise liberally in the home paper. Too many merchants sleep on their oars while the catalogue houses come in and take a large portion of their trade. They demur at undertaking anything like a thorough system of advertising, contending that the drift to the mail order house is bound to come; and yet they make free complaint over the inroads of the mail order houses into their particular trade.

The fact of the matter is, the trade belongs rightfully to and would come to them if they were progressive enough in inviting it with good, live advertising.

There never was a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. This is shown by the increase in sales and voluntary testimonials from persons who have been cured by it. If you or your children are troubled with a cough or cold give it a trial and become acquainted with its good qualities. For Sale by All Dealers.

Railroads as Beasts of Burden

In a recent speech, Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific likened the railroads of the country to "great beasts of burden."

He said: "Like the patient ox or strong dray horse, they cannot haul their loads unless they are well nourished." Mr. Elliott further remarked that for years there had been great encouragement given to manufacturing. At one time there was similar encouragement given to transportation, but of late the tendency was to repress it, and there was grave danger that the people, in an effort to correct matters, have gone to far.

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Poor Old England.

"England," says a critic, "is a country of great intentions which are rarely carried out." "A nation of shopkeepers," was bad enough, but a nation of incapable undertakers is terrible!—London Opinion.

Mrs. Rose A. Freeman, Clifford, Va., says they have long used Foley Remedies and want to say a good word for them. She writes: "Foley Kidney Pills cured my husband of a long standing kidney trouble, after he had taken other medicine without relief. We would not be without Foley & Co.'s medicines in our house for many times their cost." Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Drug Department.

Miss Minerva and William Green Hill

By ANCES BOYD CALHOUN

right by Reilly & Britton Co.

The children looked at each other in consternation when they perceived their loss.

"What we goin' to do now?" asked Billy.

"If this ain't just like Billy, all time got to purpose to clam' a ladder and all time got to let the ladder get loose from him," growled Jimmy. "We done hooked a goose egg, this time. You got us up here, Billy, how you going to get us down?"

"I did n't, neither."

"Well, it's Miss Minerva's house and she's your aunt and we's your company and you got to be 'sponsible."

"I can clam' down this-here post," said the responsible party.

"I can climb down it, too," seconded Frances.

"You can't clam' down nothing at all," said Jimmy contemptuously. "Talk bout you can clam' down a post; you'd fall and bust yourself wide open; you bout the clumsiest girl there is; sides, your legs're too fat."

"We can holla," was Lina's suggestion.

"And have grown folks laughing fit to pop their sides open? I'm 'shame to go anywhere now 'cause folks all time telling me when I'm going to dye some more Easter eggs! Naw, we better not holler," said Jimmy. "Ain't you going to do nothing, Billy?"

"I'll just slide down this-here post and git the painter man to bring his ladder back. Y'all wait up here."

Billy's solution of the difficulty seemed the safest, and they were soon released from their elevated prison.

"I might as well go home and be learning the catechism," groaned Lina.

"I'm going to get right in the closet soon 's I get to my house," said Frances. "Go on and put on your night shirt, Billy."

Billy took himself to the bathroom and scrubbed and scrubbed; but the paint refused to come off. He tiptoed by the kitchen where his aunt was cooking dinner and ran into his own room.

He found the shoes and stockings which were reserved for Sunday wear, and soon had them upon his little feet.

Miss Minerva rang the dinner-bell and he walked quietly into the dining room trying to make as little noise and to attract as little attention from his aunt as possible; but she fastened her eyes at once upon his feet.

"What are you doing with your shoes, William?" she asked.

Billy glanced nonchalantly at her.

"Don't you think, Aunt Minerva," he made answer, "I's a-gittin' too big to go thout any shoes? I's a-mos' ready to put on long pants, an' how'd I look. I'd jest like to know, goin' round barefooted, an' got on long breeches. I don't believe I'll go barefooted no more—I'll just wear my shoes ev'ry day."

"I just believe you won't. Go take them off at once and hurry back to your dinner."

"Lemme just wait till I eat," he begged, hoping to postpone the evil hour of exposure.

"No, go at once, and be sure and wash your hands."

Miss Minerva spied the paint the instant he made his second entrance and immediately inquired, "How did you get that paint on your feet?"

The little boy took his seat at the table and looked up at her with his sweet, attractive, winning smile.

"Paint percie's little boy's feet," he said, "an' keeps 'em fom gettin' hurt-ed. Aunt Minerva, don't it?"

Miss Minerva laid down her fork and gave her nephew her undivided attention.

"You have been getting into mischief again, I see, William; now tell me all about it. Are you afraid of me?"

"Yas'm," was his prompt response, "an' I don't want to be put to bed neither. The major he wond'nt put little boys to bed day times."

She blushed and eyed him thoughtfully. She was making slow progress with the child, she knew, yet she still felt it her stern duty to be very strict with him and, having laid down certain rules to rear him by, she wished to adhere to them.

"William," she said after he had made a full confession, "I won't punish you this time for I know that Jimmie led you into it but—"

"Nawm, Jimmy did n't. Me an' him an' Frances an' Lina's all 'sponsible, but I promise you, Aunt Minerva, not to clam' no mo' ladders."

CHAPTER XXI.

Pretending Reality.

The chain-gang had been working in the street not far from Miss Minerva's house, and Lina, Frances, Billy and Jimmy had hung on her front fence for an hour, watching them with eager interest. The negroes were chained together in pairs, and guarded by two, big, burly white men.

"Let's us play chain-gang," suggested Jimmy.

"Where we goin' to git a chain?" queried Billy; "it won't be no fun 'thout a lock an' chain."

"I can get the lock and chain off 'm Sarah Jane's cabin."

"Yo' mama don't low you to go to her cabin," said Billy.

He Needed Him

An old Fife-shire farmer was from time to time called upon and advised to insure his house against fire by an agent known as "Sandy." The old man, however, met the agent's advances with, "Na, na, my boose is nae gain on fire, mon." The unexpected, however, happened, and the old man, instead of trying to put out the fire, ran about shouting, "Whaur's that mon Sandy, noo? Whaur's that insurance chiel? It's terrible ye can never get a body when we're needin' him!"—Fireman's Fund R-cord.
